

International Students and Foreign Language Proficiency Reference Guide

UCD: Students whose native language is not English, and who have been educated in high school or beyond in a country where the language of instruction is not English, must provide evidence of a sufficient level of proficiency to be successful in university studies. Completion of course work in English composition in a U.S. college may be acceptable in lieu of a proficiency test. UC Davis requires “C” grades in 2 transferable English courses or TOEFL scores of 213 (computer-based) or 550 (paper based.)

UCB: Students who are not following IGETC and have completed English, Math or Foreign Language at another institution - - to determine if their work meets the R&C, QR, and FL requirements, counselor can call (510)642-7391 so UCB can make this determination.

UCI: Students whose native language is not English, and who have been educated in high school or beyond in a country where the language of instruction is not English, must provide evidence of a sufficient level of proficiency to be successful in university studies. Completion of course work in English composition in a U.S. college may be acceptable in lieu of a proficiency test. UC Irvine require “C” grades in 1 transferable English course or TOEFL scores of 213 (computer based) or 550 (paper based.)

UCLA: Students whose native language is not English, and who have been educated in high school or beyond in a country where the language of instruction is not English must provide evidence of a sufficient level of proficiency to be successful in university studies. Completion of coursework in English composition in a U.S. college may be acceptable in lieu of a proficiency test. UCLA require “B” grades in 2 transferable English courses or TOEFL score of 220 (computer-based) or 550 (paper based.)

UC Merced: Students whose native language is not English, and who have been educated in high school or beyond in a country where the language of instruction is not English, must provide evidence of a sufficient level of proficiency to be successful in university studies. Completion of course work in English composition in a U.S. college may be acceptable in lieu of a proficiency test. Merced requires “B” grades in 2 transferable English courses or TOEFL scores of 220 (computer based) or 550 paper based.)

UCR: Students whose native language is not English, and who have been educated in high school or beyond in a country where the language of instruction is not English, must provide evidence of a sufficient level of proficiency to be successful in university studies. Completion of course work in English composition in a U.S. college may be acceptable in lieu of a proficiency test. UC Riverside requires “C” grades in 1 transferable English course or TOEFL scores of 213 (computer based or 550 (paper based.)

UCSB: Students whose native language is not English, and who have been educated in high school or beyond in a country where the language of instruction is not English, must provide evidence of a sufficient level of proficiency to be successful in university studies. Completion of course work in English composition in a U.S. college may be acceptable in lieu of a proficiency test. UC Santa Barbara require “C” grades in 1 transferable English course or TOEFL scores of 173 (computer based) or 500 (paper based.)

UCSC : Students whose native language is not English, and who have been educated in high school or beyond in a country where the language of instruction is not English, must provide evidence of a sufficient level of proficiency to be successful in university studies. Completion of course work in English composition in a U.S. college may be acceptable in lieu of a proficiency test (like TOEF). UC Santa Cruz requires “B” grades in 2 transferable English courses or TOEFL scores of 220 (computer based) or 550 (paper based .)

UCSD : Students whose native language is not English, and who have been educated in high school or beyond in a country where the language of instruction is not English, must provide evidence of a sufficient level of proficiency to be successful in university studies. Completion of course work in English composition in a U.S. college may be acceptable in lieu of a proficiency test. UC San Diego requires “B” grades on 2 transferable English courses or TOEFL scores of 220(computer based) or 550 (paper based.)

12/05