

Commencement Address to the
Las Positas College Class of 2010

*Natasha Lang, Classified Senate President
May 29, 2010*

On behalf of the Classified Senate of Las Positas College I would like to thank you for this opportunity and I would like to say congratulations to the LPC Class of 2010.

I would like to leave you with a few words to take with you as you move from this milestone on to the many others that await you. I dare you to find what average is and do the opposite. If everyone continues to do the same thing as everyone else, this world would stop being the land of dreams, hope, and prosperity.

As Thomas A. Edison said, "The secret of success is focus and purpose." As you leave Las Positas College as a new Graduate, go into your next endeavors, whatever they may be with focus and purpose and you will reap the reward of your hard work and determination.

As a Classified employee and former student of LPC, I would like to say thank you to all of the people that serve you, our students, everyday -- from the friendly smile that greets you in the admissions office as you register for classes, to the behind-the-scenes folks that help make all of this possible! We love serving our students and we are so proud of all of you for making it to such an impressive milestone.

Good Luck and may you have a blessed future.

To the LPC class of 2010!
