

Encyclopedia, Subject Encyclopedia, or Special Reference - MLA Citation

Article Author, if available (usually given at the end of the article, Last Name, First Name, end with a period).

“ _____ .”
“Article Title.” (In quotations, end with a period before the last quotation mark)

Encyclopedia or Reference Work Title (underlined, end with a period)

Ed. _____
Editor of book, if listed. (Written as Ed. First Name Last Name, end with a period, or Eds. if there is more than one)

Volume Number. (Written as Vol. #.)

Place Published (end with colon) : _____ , _____ . _____
Publisher (end with comma) Date Published (end with period) Pages.

Online Reference Informational Databases -Subject Encyclopedia or Special Reference - MLA Citation

Article Author, if available (usually given at the end of the article, Last Name, First Name, end with a period).

“ _____ .”
“Article Title.” (In quotations, end with a period before the last quotation mark)

Encyclopedia or Reference Work Title. (underlined, end with a period)

Place Published, if available (end with colon) : _____ , _____ . _____
Publisher, if available (end with comma) Date Published (end with period)

Database Title. (underlined; capitalized; end with period) _____
Subscribing Library-abbreviated, City. (comma after library; end with period)

Date of Access (Day Month-abbreviated Year, no period) < _____ > .
Short URL of the database (in brackets<>; end with a period) - see list.
(Use Noodlebib for more complete information)

Book with One or No Author - MLA Citation

Author (Last Name, First Name, end with a period; if there is no author start with book title).

Book Title (underlined, end with a period)

Place Published (end with colon) : _____ , _____ . _____
Publisher (end with comma) Date Published (end with period)

(Use Noodlebib for more complete information)

Book with Two Authors - MLA Citation

First Author: Last Name, First Name, end with a comma, add and Second Author: First Name Last Name; end with period).

Book Title (underlined, end with a period)

Place Published (end with colon) : _____ , _____
Date Published (end with period)

(Use Noodlebib for more complete information)

Book with Three Authors - MLA Citation

First Author: Last Name, First Name, (end with a comma) Second Author: First Name Last Name, (end with a comma) and Third Author:
First Name Last Name. (end with period).

Book Title (underlined, end with a period)

Place Published (end with colon) : _____ , _____
Date Published (end with period)

(Use Noodlebib for more complete information)

Work in an Anthology (Opposing Viewpoints, Collections of Plays, Essays, Articles, etc.) - MLA Citation

Article Author, if available (Last Name, First Name, end with a period).

“ _____ ”
“Title of Work.” (In quotations, end with a period before the last quotation mark)

Anthology or Collection's Title (underlined, end with a period)

Ed. _____
Editor of book, if listed. (Written as Ed. First Name Last Name, end with a period, or Eds. if there is more than one)

Place Published (end with colon) : _____ , _____
Date Published (end with period) _____ Pages.

(Use Noodlebib for more complete information)

Journal, Magazine or Newspaper Article in Print - MLA Citation

Article Author, if available (Last Name, First Name, end with a period)

“Article Title.” (in quotations; each word capitalized; end with a period before the last quotation mark)

Journal, Magazine or Newspaper Title (underlined; each word capitalized; no period at end)

Date of Magazine/Newspaper (day Month-abbreviated year, end with colon)

Section (if newspaper) Pages (end with period)

(Use Noodlebib for more complete information)

Journal or Magazine Article (Full Text) in a Database - MLA Citation

Article Author, if available (Last Name, First Name, end with a period)

“Article Title.” (in quotations; each word capitalized; end with a period before the last quotation mark)

Journal or Magazine Title (underlined; each word capitalized; no period at end)

Date of Periodical (day Month-abbreviated year, end with colon) : Pages (end with period) Database Title. (underlined; capitals; period)

Name of Subscription Service. Subscribing Library-abbreviated, City. (comma after library; end with period)

Date of Access (Day Month-abbreviated Year, no period) < Short URL of the database (in brackets<>; end with a period) - see list.
(Use Noodlebib for more complete information)

Newspaper Article (Full Text) in a Database - MLA Citation

Article Author, if available (Last Name, First Name, end with a period)

“Article Title.” (in quotations; each word capitalized; end with a period before the last quotation mark)

Newspaper Title (underlined; each word capitalized; no period at end)

Date of Newspaper (day Month year, end with colon) : Section Pages (end with period) Database Title. (underlined; capitals; period)

Name of Subscription Service (end with period) Subscribing Library-abbreviated, City. (comma after library; end with period)

Date of Access (Day Month-abbreviated Year, no period) < Short URL of the database (in brackets<>; end with a period) - see list.
(Use Noodlebib for more complete information)

General Website/Internet (Not a Subscription Database) - MLA Citation

You may not find all of this information for every website. Fill in the information you can find, in the order given. You will always have the title of the homepage; possibly a date published or updated; date of access; and Internet URL.

Author or editor, if available. (Last Name, First Name, end with a period)

“ _____ ”
“Title of Document.” (In quotations; each word capitalized; end with a period before the last quotation mark)

Title of Internet/Website. (overall name of website underlined; each word capitalized; end with period)

Publication Information, if available.

Date Published, Updated, or Copyright, if available.

Any institution or organization sponsoring site, not already listed.

Date of Visit or Access: Day Month-abbreviated Year. (end with period) <Internet URL >. (in brackets<>; end with a period).

(Use Noodlebib for more complete information)

Audiovisual Materials - MLA Citation

Author, Artist, Composer, Performer. (Last Name, First Name, end with a period; use to emphasize important contributor. Or start with title.
Most audiovisual materials start with title.)

Audiovisual Title. (underlined, end with a period)

Medium (DVD, Videocassette, LP, Audiocassette, etc. (CDs are not noted); end with period.)

Publisher (end with comma)

Date Published (end with period)

(Use Noodlebib for more complete information)