Meals included

- Share transition issues with other female veterans.
- Learn new skills to reconnect to family and friends.
- Decompress and recharge your mind, body and spirit.
- Understand the impact of your experience.
- Develop your personal vision and mission.

Like nothing you’ll have ever done. It’s a fun, hands-on workshop that provides you new skills and tools to take on your transition powerfully. This program does a great job in helping veterans dealing with their feelings and to help find themselves.

Sponsored by the Chehalis Tribe of Washington State and the Return to Honor team...

This training and retreat is an experiential program to assist female veterans with combat stress and readjustment issues. This is not a mental health program; it is a post-deployment transition training.

You will be guided through a series of exercises in emotional intelligence, bioenergetics and paradigm shift to address the unique issues of women veterans.

Event Dates & Registration:

When searching for something it is good to have a connection to those who have had some of the same experiences to be able to be expected to move on. Continue to get the word out. At this time there are not a lot of options out there and the program helps fill a need. Thank you.

It was very good, powerful, heartfelt, and provided inspiration for the future in ways that were not originally my goals; very good job of identifying underlying issues. Sincerely, my gratitude is immense.
